Have been trying to get consumer's to acknowledge a problem . As you can see over an entire year have never had a electric bill this high. There are two people in our home. Nothing has changed. Actually both of our children moved out this year so should be less. Consumers blamed it on bad appliances, loss of body heat in the house if you can believe that, and everything but the meter. My newest bill is now somehow right back in range. And yet again nothing in the house changed but 1000 kWh less energy. Any help is appreciated as all they offer is a payment plan to payit all or turn you off. Tracey Koehler
